

On June 28, American pop music act Beyoncé halted a live performance at NRG Stadium in Houston, Texas due to a prop malfunction on the first night of a tour. In the middle of performing her song "16 Carriages", the Cadillac suspended in mid-air above the audience in which she was sitting in began to tilt to one side.